

We have been very happy in Indiana with the current Indiana law re. telemarketers. I am at last able to enjoy my evening meals without being interrupted by someone trying to sell me windows or house siding. Please don't get the FCC involved in things that the states should handle.